The Kirk-Takai Resolution to Boldly Go

The Manchin-Newhouse bill to keep 500 people from sending this combination unless there’s an amazingly clever description

This week's second prize: The Joint Subcommittee on Shell Corporations. (Two members were off doing research on a Caribbean beach.) (Pat Myers/The Washington Post)

Every two years, even when when the electorate doesn't much agree with her own political preferences, the Empress gets excited whenever there's a large turnover in Congress. (And not just at the Apple Pastry Appreciation Day press conference.) It's because there will be more freshmen's names to cobble together for the Invite's "joint legislation" contest, a game we've been playing since 1993. Actually, despite the big GOP gains in November, there are only 64 new people in the House and Senate for this 114th Congress (if you count people who've moved from one to the other) — which is a dozen or so fewer than in the 113th. So we're padding out the list by adding veteran senators whose names haven't been used in any previous Invite results. After all, the new legislators had better learn to work with their seniors.

So: Combine two or more names from the list of members of Congress (the list is at the bottom of this page) to “cosponsor” a bill based on their combined last names, and state its purpose, as in the examples above. Sometimes people will string together six or eight names to create something that sounds like real words only in the deluded mind of the writer; one year, someone sent in “Yoho-Vela-Williams” to mean “Jehovah's Witnesses,” which prompted a whole lot of imperial tiara-scratching. You may translate your effort for the Empress, but do it on a separate line so she can try it without a hint first.

Other runners-up win their choice of a yearned-for Loser Mug or the ardently desired “Whole Fools” Grossery Bag. Honorable mentions get a lusted-after Loser magnet designed by Bob Staake: either “The Wit Hit the Fan” or “Hardly Har-Har.” First Offenders receive a smelly tree-shaped air “freshener” (FirStink for their first ink). E-mail entries to losers@washpost.com or, if you were born in the 19th century, fax to 202-334-4312. Deadline is Monday, Jan. 26; results published Feb. 15 (online Feb. 12). You may submit up to 25 entries per contest. Include “Week 1107” in your e-mail subject line or it might be ignored as spam. Include your real name, postal address and phone number with your entry. See contest rules and guidelines at wapo.st/InvRules. The headline for this week’s results is by Chris Doyle; the honorable-mentions subhead was submitted by both Howard Walderman and Mark Raffman.
