Style Invitational Week 1141: Mess With Our Heads – our ‘bank head’ contest

And the Losers get ink with spicy titles for boring books

“I’m not going to use that bidet thing!” Reinterpreting the Washington Post headline “An American Void.” (Bob Staake for The Washington Post)

(Click here to skip down to the results of our contest to write spicy titles for boring books)

Real Washington Post headline: An American Void

Fake bank head: ‘No WAY am i sitting on that bidet thing – I’d fall right in,’ Omaha tourist declares in Paris

Post headline: Trump, Carson top GOP race

Bank head: Otherwise, African Americans are bottom GOP race

And once again, we invite readers to comically misinterpret what The Washington Post was saying — and not just by writing letters to the editor.

This week: Reinterpret (or comment wryly on) a headline appearing in The Post (print or online) Sept. 17-28 by writing a bank head, or subtitle, as in the examples above from last Sunday's Post. In the print paper, you may use an article's main headline, or a significant part of it (for example, everything before or after a colon); the story's bank head; or the jump head, the headline on the story's second page. Online, you may use not only headlines (or significant parts) above an article, but also headlines on the home page and elsewhere that serve as links to the article. And for both, you may use headlines in ads. See the Style Conversational column for further guidelines at bit.ly/conv1141.

Well, there's a lot of caffeine in there: Mr. Tea will let it all out as he relaxes inside your cup. This week's second prize. (VAT19.COM)

Winner gets the Inkin' Memorial, the Lincoln statue bobblehead that is the official Style Invitational trophy. Second place receives the Mr. Tea Infuser, a little man with perforated rubbery pants into which you put some tea, then set him inside the hot tub of your cup until the brown stuff seeps out. Donated by Dave Prevar, who, while he is admittedly a 263-time Loser, swears he does not personally seep into hot tubs.

Other runners-up win their choice of a yearned-for Loser Mug or the ardently desired "Whole Fools" Grossery Bag. Honorable mentions get a lusted-after Loser magnet designed by Bob Staake: either "The Wit Hit the Fan" or "Hardly Har-Har." First Offenders receive a smelly tree-shaped air "freshener" (FirStink for their first ink). E-mail entries to losers@washpost.com or, if you were born in the 19th century, fax to 202-334-4312. Deadline is Monday night, Sept. 28; results published Oct. 18 (online Oct. 15). You may submit up to 25 entries per contest. Include "Week 1141" in your e-mail subject line or it might be ignored as spam. Include your real name, postal address and phone number with your entry. See contest rules and guidelines at wapo.st/InvRules. The headline for this week's results is by Jeff Contompasis; the honorable-mentions subhead is by Beverley Sharp.
