[I really do have other things to do with my life, but this was such fun I couldn't help myself. List below contains top 50 contestants through Week 74. "Credits" is your total items in print. "DebuWk" is the Week you first appeared. "Consis[tency]" is your Credits divided by the number of weeks since your debut, corrected for the missing Week 64.

I have added two new columns, as you see. "MoveWk" is the Week on which I predict you will overtake in credits the person ranked directly above you, based on your Consistency measures. "That Date" is the date that Week starts.

If there is no MoveWk and That Date on your line, that is because the person above you already has more credits and has a higher Consistency--you will never catch him or her while those rates remain as they are now.

Example: Sarah Worcester, should she get her act together, should pass Paul Sabourin in credits at Week 77, on the assumption that Paul will also get some ink at the rate he has in the past.]
